

South Dakota Parent Connection Navigator Program

The Navigator Program, a partnership between the South Dakota Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs and South Dakota Parent Connection, provides individualized guidance to parents of children and youth with disabilities or special health care needs and school professionals at no cost.

Navigators remain objective and neutral as they help both parents and school personnel to:

- Locate and utilize information and resources
- Improve family-school communication
- Build (or re-build) partnership
- Reach or make progress towards agreement

Peer Navigator Consultants are located around the state and have expertise in issues related to special education, disability, special health care needs, communication strategies and conflict resolution.

Working with a Navigator is an informal, time-limited, problem-solving process and does not restrict a parent's right to use formal processes such as the help of an advocate, filing a complaint, requesting a facilitator or mediator assigned by the state, or filing for a due process hearing.

“SDPC helped guide us through the IEP process and other school-related challenges. We have had professional, resourceful Navigator representatives that encouraged each side of the parent/school relationship to be honest, open and productive.”
